The testimony of a great number of persons of all classes has been given on each side, and the examination has elicited a large variety of facts and arguments. Among the witnesses were many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mejority of the many of the clergy, the great mean med Mackey, and enother to hackey, and enother the months in Bourbon and the proposed the ment another t Protestants giving the result of their observa-

Committee will report a license law, which will give rise to an extended discussion and, as it appears to us, will be defeated. The minority will present an adverse report, ernment, and it may be, more than one. A Massachusetts Legislature will hardly be ready to go back from the opinion so generally held by its constituents and so long embodied in its statutes as to renew the disparded system of license, and it is scarcely probable that any material ohange will at present be made in the existing law. The speeches of Messrs. Andrew and Miner at the close of the hearing are very long every effort to prevent the calling of a convention to smead the Constitution.

THE PUBLIC DEST .- Mr. McCulloch, Source tary of the Treasury, has not yet published his monthly statement of the national Finances .-Advance advices, however, reveal the fact that it will be quite as satisfactory to the country as its producessors. The Secretary, influenced by the condition of the money market, has not, for the last three months, chosen to ratire the four millions of currency per month which the law allows him to withdraw; and while he is convinced that the financial interests of the country demand it, he will continue to exercise the same discretionary power.

The forthcoming statement will show a reduction of debt, for the month, of from twelve by to twenty williams; also that there are one hundred and fourteen millions of gold in the Treasury. Although this report lacks dolla iteness, it is gratifying even as an approximation to the real facts, and if the Secretary's offieial figures lie anywhere between these amounts they will exhibit a healthfulness of the public finances which will be not only surprising to the old world but pleasing to ourselves and to all who wish us well,

The following is the blatery above referred to: our city, and Mr. Daniel Parish, Jr., who was ticket is concerned, has been declared by the spending the season in Nowport, were desirous of efficial count as follows: organizing some institution which might furnish information and means of calture to a class of our ing 6. citizens who could not afford to indulge in the privileges effered by the larger libraries. They desired to establish some resort which might exerclas a counter infinence to the dangerous associations of street culture, and at the same time might exercise a healthy influence in developing a taste for intellectual puranits.

They concluded to retablish a Library and Roading Room, which should be free, which should extend to a certain class of our citizens in the lower part of the city, and which should combine the influences of an educational and reformatory lustitoilon. Mr. Parish rented the present room, engaged a jenitor, obtained a few new and interesting books, with a number of current periodicals, and left the same in charge of Mrs. Little during $52.1-4; 7 cource Rhede Lyand Union Hank,

The room was opened immediately, and used as a reading room, no books being allowed to be circolated; yet its influence was excellent, and was bighly prived by those who were favored with its

The Young Men's Christian Association owning a library of some three to four hundred volumes, were informed of the reeds of the institution, and being requested agreed to loan their books to the Newport Free Library. They were gladly accepted, and the broke, book case and inbles were trapeferred to the Library room, forming with the books lishers. The illustrations are Gen. But it was felt that statistics, based on the actuest argument to commend an institution of this ing portions of the war, including the above to prove the need, a reading room, which offered all the current literature, periodicals, daily and weekly papers, was proposed, and through the liborality of Mr. Patish all the leading periodicals, and a number of daily and weakly papers were obtained. The cervices of an able and efficient librarian were secured, and the Library and Read ing Room were publicly advertised to be opened, free to all, on Wednesday, the 23d day of January 1867.

The first evening the room was visited by twenty-seven, and eight booke were taken out. The first week the attendance on the room was large and gratifying, and one hundred books were issucd.
